It was expected that the governor would announce his decision to-day. He, however, withheld it, and, according to a dispatch received here from Richmond this afternoon, will announce his decision tomorrow. As has been previously stated in The Washington Herald, it is gener-fact is that this case has given me far more trouble than any which has yet come to my consideration. It is very perplexing. The fact that Smith, on whose evidence the remaining three were convicted, is a confessed perjurer, a for-mer convict, a confirmed thief, forces me to doubt greatly the guilt of the men when there is not much to support his statements.' Attorney Lewis H. Machen, represent-ng Johnson, has forwarded a petition to the governor in behalf of Johnson, asking that the three condemned men be pardoned or that their sentence be muted to life imprisonment. It is said that the petition contains about 700 signa-A concert will be given at 8:20 o'clock
